“ The year was 1978 or 79 and I was 3-4 years old. My family was going to my great- grandparents house for a holiday. My mom kept saying, "you get to meet Uncle Charlie"! I didn't know any Uncle Charlie. Apparently he was a salesman or something, because I never met him. I guess he was on the road all the time. Anyways, when I walked through the door he yelled my name to come say hello. He was intimidating fellow. Most of us have few memories from our early childhood, but for some reason I remember that day like it was yesterday. He was wearing a white T-shirt that was too small, because his belly was sneaking out the bottom. He treated me like a buddy throughout my life. He has taken me to Mets games, Upstate, and made the rounds at businesses that he owned. I learned poker at an early age (free play of course). I don't know the man like some others do, but I know how he was with me, and that's all that matters! RIP Uncle Charlie... You the man!!!

“ I have struggled to find the words. I can't say "He was a great man", because he had many flaws. But every holiday, every event, you knew Uncle Charlie was going to be there. Before he met Elena, he never had a card or a gift. He would simply put his hand into his pocket and give you whatever money he had on him at the time. Sometimes, it was only $5, but it could just as easily have been $50! It was almost a game- I wonder what we're going to get from Uncle Charlie today! Regardless, he was there because family meant everything to him. Every chance he got, he showed us that he loved us by his presence. Christmas, Easter, weddings, Christenings, Confirmations, you name it. Not to mention the many opportunities he took to just gather with family at baseball games or barbeques at his house or whatever - just because! Nothing will ever be the same. Yes, he had his faults, but I loved him, and he loved me. How could anyone ask for more?
